■ About the information in this report

Here's an explanation of the key information about you and your credit history that's included in this report:

Your credit items that may be considered negative

The most common items in this section are late payments, accounts that have been charged off or sent to collection, bankruptcies, liens, and judgments. It also may contain items that are not necessarily negative, but that a potential creditor might want to review more closely, such as an account that has been settled or transferred. The key word is "potentially." Experian doesn't make judgments about the information in your credit report. The list is provided as a service to direct your attention to what Experian thinks lenders are likely to consider negative when reviewing your credit history. For example, if you have missed payments in the past, they would likely be viewed negatively.

Your accounts in good standing

Items display in this section when your creditor reports that you have satisfactorily met the terms of your agreements with them. Some creditors may not report consumer credit information to us, so all of your accounts may not be listed. This section also includes up to two years of your monthly balances on an account if reported by your creditor.

Companies that have requested your credit history

We list anyone that has requested your credit information in the last two years, including companies that have requested your credit report as a result of an action you took, such as applying for credit. We also include requests about you from those with a permissible purpose, such as a potential employer, investor or pre-approved credit grantor.

Your personal information

This information is reported to us by you, your creditors and other sources, and includes your name, variations of your name reported to us, addresses, Social Security number (and variations reported to us), date of birth, telephone numbers and employers.

■ Medical information

By law, we cannot disclose certain medical information (relating to physical, mental, or behavioral health or condition). Although we do not generally collect such information, it could appear in the name of a data furnisher (i.e., "Cancer Center") that reports your payment history to us. If so, those names display in your report, but in reports to others they display only as "Medical Information Provider". Consumer statements included on your report at your request that contain medical information are disclosed to others.
